Atonement: God wants to save everybody! - Christ Almighty

He wants to be there and the Atonement means He can feel it all with us. He wants to weep with us. The emotions will come in waves and we will have moments of doubt and wonder but it is that vulnerability that allows a place for the Savior to be with us and then slowly help us find the peace and answers or maybe even just acceptance that we need.

What the Atonement means to me | Pleasant Grove Mom

One of them is to have been born in Iceland, growing up in a protected environment that leaves one with the feeling (or illusion) that one is free to do anything he wants. Then again moving to Estonia to study composition made me re-evaluate my perceptions on life and art so far.
