For my money Christine is Stephen King's best work. A ast-paced, believable and terrifying tale of "everyday evil" that like Pet Sematary brings the thing in the closet back from your childhood memories to just outside your "grownup" bedroom door. It IS still OUTSIDE that door. Isn't it? Do you get up and check or stay safe under the covers?

The car was given the name Christine by its first owner. He brings the car to a repair shop of the despicable Will Darnell and works hard to restore the classic car. While he works in the restoration, he changes his personality to a cocky teenager and he dates the most beautiful girl in the high-school, Leigh Cabot.

Christine (1983) - IMDb

Christine is an unusually book in King's canon as it is mostly remembered as the book about the haunted car. I think this is in part because it's the closest to the old Family Guy joke of Stephen King making a somehow mundane item scary and because of the film adaptation, which stream lined the story.

Christine is one of King's most popular creations, books, and movie adaptations. She is seen in the book, the movie, and even referenced and seen in a couple other books and movies. She has also left a lasting impact on popular culture. She makes a cameo appearance in Cat's Eye along with Cujo, the rabid St. Bernard. As he chases General, they're almost ran over by a 1958 Plymouth Fury that pulls up and manages to brake in time.
