The U.S. Open consists of championships in five main categories: men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles. The U.S. Open developed from one of the oldest tennis championships in the world: the U.S. National Championship, which was established in 1881 as a national men's singles and doubles competition. The tournament was open only to clubs that were members of the U.S. National Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA; now the USTA).
