The High Velocity Edge In a business ecosystem that is only growing more complex and faster-moving, what separates high-performing organizations from the rest of the pack? Today, sustainable competitive advantage has to be won by creating the internal capacity to improve and innovate – fast and without letup.

The High Velocity Edge

Spear argues that High-Velocity Edge companies are learning organizations. Organizations that continually look at the whole system to see what needs to be improved, clarified and/or cut. By considering if each action is necessary, if it is leading to near-misses or even tragic circumstances, these companies save time, resources and empower their employees to create value and not just put out fires.
